HERITAGE North America · Redmond Barrens, Seattle. Never been further than Bellevue, and only to steal.

BACKGROUND Underworld · courier runs and climbing for the Rusted Halos, a go-gang you left when the leader started killing

VICE Pleasure · rooftop parties above Glow City, adrenaline, loud music, anything that tastes like life

IDN (SIN) None. Never had one. To you the city is a climbing wall without ID checks.

METATYPE · ORK

Low-light Vision. You can see in low light as well as if it were well lit.

Foolish Pride. Regain 1 edge when you roll a critical on a desperate action roll.

Numbskull. Spend 1 edge to ignore a harm penalty (including incapacitation) for an action.

IMPLANTS & BODY

No implants, but you would love cybereyes. Instead a scratched commlink with a climbing app, gecko gloves and a hoverboard with hand-sprayed flames.

HOW YOU SHINE IN THE MERIDIAN SPIRE

- Access ladder & maintenance shaft: From the terrace on 111 to the roof, from the roof down the shaft to 110, without touching the party. Catch Me If You Can pays for the moment a sensor trips after all.
- Ceiling void: From the locker room over the partition wall into the event office. Tight, dark, exactly your thing. The keycard lies below in its box.
- Distraction: Pepper smoke in the salon, a guest falls into the pool, a tray tips over: you buy the crew the two minutes in which nobody is watching.

FRIEND

Mondo, facade cleaner for the maintenance firm. Rides the Meridian Spire's gondola every Tuesday. He tells you where the control box sits, when the schedule calls for a run and that the terrace camera only sees the drone pad.

RIVAL

Ripfang, leader of the Rusted Halos. Takes it personally that Fizz left. His gang controls the streets around the approach to Bellevue.

WHY YOU TAKE THIS JOB

Your little brother Teo is eleven and starting to think the Rusted Halos are cool. Six nuyen is an apartment outside the Barrens. Besides: 112 floors of glass. You have never seen anything that tall that you have not climbed.

The Barrens, go-gangs and life without a SIN. Redmond used to be a tech suburb. Today the Barrens are a district without power, police or garbage collection, where gangs are the order. Those born here often have no SIN: no school, no doctor, no way out except the shadows. Orks are born where humans move away. Fizz does not consider that fate, but a wall you can climb.
